

Conservatives In Saskatchewan Give Platform

Proposal Creditors Share Losses With Debtors When Crops Fail.

SASKATOON, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Action for debt adjustment, whereby creditors would share with debtors losses due to crop failures and abnormally low prices, is proposed in a new Saskatchewan Conservative platform announced tonight by J. G. Diefenbaker, K.C., provincial party leader.

The debt program would prevent the home or homestead of any citizen residing in Saskatchewan being taken from him either by mortgage foreclosure or tax proceeding where the fair value of the house or homestead exceeds the amount of the mortgage debt and taxes if any.

A single transferable ballot in provincial elections, reduction in Government administration costs, debt refunding, taxation reduction, contributory unemployment insurance, crop insurance and abolition of the education tax, a two percent tax on retail sales in the province, are important planks.

Favors Health Insurance. Health insurance, state medicine and state hospitalization, together with general extension of social and health services, are approved. Establishment of a Government-guaranteed minimum wage for teachers and payment of all teachers' salary arrears in one year are included in the platform.

Operation of a Canadian wheat board to afford farmers an alternative market for their grain is proposed. The platform pledges every effort to prevent amalgamation of Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways.

Efforts would be made to end unemployment by a work and wages program involving a housing scheme, building of all-weather roads, survey of natural resources, water works and irrigation projects, development of provincial parks, forestation, and development of lumber and power industries.

A youth works program would involve development of natural resources and adoption of a system of trades apprenticeship. Relief would be administered under a non-political commission "federal in scope."

Steps are proposed to solve problems of ex-service men and reinstate those "unjustly discharged" by the present Liberal Government.

Education Program. Age limit for old age pensions would be reduced from 70 to 65 with mothers' allowances and maternity grants increased. Revision of elementary and secondary school courses to be "more applicable to an agricultural province" is an education plank along with a plan for provincial scholarships.

Government economy would include:

Night Coughs Hard On The System. The dry, hacking cough, cough day and night, is very wearing on the system, and the constant coughing not only disturbs the rest, but it keeps the bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

Sometimes it is the constant cough that won't be quieted, sometimes a choked-up, stuffed-up feeling that makes breathing difficult.

Obtains coughs and colds generally yield to the grateful, soothing action of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is indicated for this kind of the most soothing and healing expectorant bark, herbs, roots and balsams obtainable.

Mr. HARRY LASK, Lakeville, N.B., writes: "I had such a terrible cough I could not sleep at night. I tried different medicines, but they never helped me, my cough still hung on. I then got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and I was surprised to see how quickly my cough disappeared."

Statue to the Memory of Their Late Queen

One of the most touching episodes in the life of the late Queen Astrid of the Belgians is perpetuated by this statue just dedicated in the Town Hall in Liege. The statue portrays the presentation by Queen Astrid of her youngest child, Prince Albert of Liege, to the people of Liege. The Swedish military attaché to Brussels stands at attention before the statue at the dedication. It is life-sized, and is the work of Adelin Salte.

Europe Far Away From War Says Secretary of British Legion

J. B. Griffin Believes England's Policy to Keep Everybody Talking as Long as They Can—Little Chance of Scrapping While Talks Continue

"I think in Europe we are as far away from war as we can possibly be," J. B. Griffin, organizing secretary of the British Legion, told a meeting of the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Legion at their headquarters on Monday night.

"It seems to me that at the moment England's policy is to keep everybody talking as long as they can. As long as you can keep people talking round a table there is little chance of their scrapping. It's an old policy, but a wise one, and it's paying at the moment."

Mr. Griffin has come to Canada for a short period chiefly for the purpose of investigating problems of Imperial ex-servicemen.

Only One Recognized. Talk of forming independent organizations of Imperial ex-servicemen in Canada, he said, "is cutting no ice and can lead nowhere." He thought there was no chance of the British Empire Service League or the British Legion recognizing any organization in Canada but the British Legion.

He thought, however, that by administrative co-operation between the British and Canadian Legions it should be possible to satisfy the needs of Imperial ex-servicemen, although they could not have made available to them the same social services as were obtainable in England.

The War Veterans' Allowance would salary reductions for ministers, fewer cabinet ministers and fewer members in the Legislature, salary cuts for higher paid civil servants, co-ordinating Government departments and services, culmination of "unnecessary boards and commissions," discontinuance of "excessive" living allowances and honoraria for judges acting on Royal Commissions, discontinuance of "wanton expenditure of public moneys for partisan and patronage purposes."

Alleges Money Obtained By False Pretences. Arraigned before Judge Roland Miller at Hull court on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences, James Clark, 30, giving his address as 308 Waverley street, Ottawa, was remanded until November 5 for preliminary hearing.

Clark was arrested by Ottawa detectives on a warrant sworn out by Ernest Dufour, of Hull, who alleged that Clark had obtained money in payment for an advertisement in a tourist booklet from the John Labatt agency, Wellington street, Hull.

The complaint alleges that while the money was paid, the booklet with the advertisement has not been issued.

Hull detectives, O. Lusignan and A. Anderson, are investigating other complaints in that city of fraud in soliciting of advertisements.

Two Women Hurt. Three Cars in Collision. Two women were slightly hurt when three automobiles were involved in a collision at Bronson and Gladstone avenues shortly before midnight on Monday.

Constables M. McKenney and E. Connolly investigated. They reported the crash was due to failure of a tourist, Charles R. Elmsen, 7 Walnut street, Sharron, Pa., to stop for traffic lights before crossing Gladstone avenue at Bronson. His car was in collision with an automobile in charge of William J. Johnston, 51 Champagne avenue, and continued on to hit an automobile in which John C. Davis, 225 Broadway avenue, was stopped for the traffic light on the far side of the intersection.

Mrs. Elmsen and Mrs. Johnston both suffered from cuts, bruises and shock, but did not require medical attention at the scene of the mishap.

Advantages Of Joint Charity Appeal

Community Chests Drive Here Begins On November 22.

Ottawa Community Chests, which will hold their campaign from November 22 to 30, were organized in 1933 to provide an efficient and economical system of raising funds for financing charitable and philanthropic agencies.

Before that time citizens of Ottawa were being called on every few weeks throughout the year to contribute to one or another of the existing social agencies, each one conducting a separate drive.

Some agencies were successful in achieving their objective, others were not. Once an agency had secured its funds, it spent them as it wished; in some cases, for services which were already being rendered by another agency better equipped to supply them.

The whole situation was wasteful, expensive and annoying to the subscribing public.

On Business-Like Basis. With the introduction of the Community Chest System, the collection of charitable funds was placed on a business-like basis.

A survey was made of the agencies appealing to the public to determine which of their services were necessary for the social welfare of the city, and who was best fitted to give them.

Agencies entering the Chests agreed not only to join together in one campaign, but to work together throughout the year. They agreed to furnish monthly statements of their expenditures, to submit to a yearly audit by a registered chartered accountant, and to budget their needs before applying for funds.

This does not mean that the agencies are subjected to arbitrary outside control. The Board of Directors and Budget Committees of the Chests are elected from representatives of the agencies and the subscribers.

Low Administration Cost. The Community Chests themselves are not agencies engaged in social work, they are Financial Federations acting as the fiscal agencies of their member agencies.

Not only do they raise the money necessary to carry on the agencies' work, but also administer the funds collected to the best advantage of both agencies and subscribers.

By holding only one campaign a year they eliminate numerous appeals and reduce overhead expense. The cost of raising money in the campaign held in 1936 was 2.6 percent, the cost of year round administration for 1936 was 3.8 percent, a total cost of 6.4 percent of the total amount raised.

The average campaign and administration cost in other chests raising the same amount as Ottawa is 7.9 percent. The Chest system has not decreased personal interest in individual agencies, as is shown by the unselfish and devoted service given by hundreds of volunteer workers and committee members.

The Community Chests, through its city-wide appeal, has also increased the number of subscribers from 5,000 in 1932 to more than 22,000 in 1936, a substantial advance in the recognition of social responsibility.

Community Chests are operating in 445 cities on the North American Continent, of which 10 are in Canada. This method of joint financing for social agencies is recognized as the most satisfactory system for the collection and administration of funds for welfare work.

Fire Causes Damage To Club Rooms. Four rooms, including the library containing some valuable books, were damaged in premises of L'Institut Canadien Francaise, popular rendezvous for professional and business men, at 117-123 Rideau street, when fire of unknown origin broke out there shortly after four o'clock on Monday afternoon.

Firemen were summoned first by telephone. They found the fire had started in the ceiling of the second floor of the building, which is owned by the Bank of Nova Scotia, and occupied on the ground floor, at the William street corner, by a branch of the bank.

Reinforcements were summoned by a street alarm, and the flames were confined to a section of the club rooms. Club officials said rooms damaged included those occupied by resident members, but the most serious loss was by damage to books in the Institut library. Value of property damaged had not been estimated Monday night.
